Reopening of 20-year GII 8/37 prints healthy BTC cover of 2.15x

Today's auction of RM1.5bn 20Y GII 8/37 printed a more robust BTC of 2.15x, compared to the BTC of 1.78x during the new issuance back in August. The auction attracted healthy demand despite lingering expectations for the Fed to increase interest rates by another 25bps, probably by December this year, unperturbed by the slightly dovish FOMC minutes overnight that highlighted concerns over low inflation. Today's tender size is within our expected ranges of RM2.5bn, comprising RM1.5bn public auction and RM1.0bn via private placement. Summary of tender results are as follows:

Bid to Cover: 2.147x

High : 4.803%

Average : 4.785%

Low : 4.755%

Cut off : 36.4%

Benign net supply in 4Q and demand from lifers and pension funds to keep local bonds market supported

Despite potential policy shifts among the majors with expectations that the ECB could be joining the bandwagon of QE tapering that could further reduce global liquidity, we believe benign net supply of RM4.3bn in 4Q and continuous demand from lifers and pension funds will continue to sustain momentum in the local bonds market. Up next, is the reopening of another long-tenor paper, 30-year MGS 3/46 for which we are penciling a tender size of RM2.0bn.
