New Issue of 7-year MGS 3/25 prints strong BTC of 2.347x

The pre-auction market post-announcement saw WI quoted initially at 3.95%; moving lower on demand after being lifted to 3.89% and 3.88% respectively (subsequent quote post-auction was seen at 3.88-86% levels). The strong interest which spilled into the tender exercise saw an impressive BTC of 2.347x being notched on the back of a relatively huge RM3.0b maiden auction size; smashing the 1.604x recorded on similar issuance size during the last 7Y auction in October 2017. The print-size of RM3.0b+1.0b (private placement) totaling RM4.0b was again well within our expectations. The summary of tender results are as follows:-

Bid to Cover : 2.347x
 High : 3.89%
 Average : 3.882%
 Low : 3.87%
 Cut off : 67.65%

Decent yield and strong BTC for this tender reflects appetite mainly from offshore institutional investors...

The tail of a mere 1.9bps for this 7Y tenure amid a presumably large issuance of RM3.0b along with a high BTC is testimony to the strong appetite mainly arising from foreign institutional investors. The average yield of 3.882% is deemed attractive and comparable to the similar previous tenders @ 3.879% last October and 3.919% in July 2017. This also puts the new MGS 3/25 at a discount of 14bps (versus the historical mean spread of 16bps) if compared to the new equivalent Islamic benchmark bond i.e. GII 8/25 which was issued last month. Up next in the auction calendar is the reopening of 15Y GII 6/33 with a forecasted tender size of RM3.0b.
