Fixed Income : Auction Calendar

Reopening of 3-year GII 3/22 prints a solid BTC of 2.426x

The pre-auction market following the auction announcement saw WI print 3bps higher compared to earlier initial cash quotes and subsequently taken at 3.87% levels. The tender exercise garnered a BTC of 2.426x and a marked improvement viz-a-viz its recent last primary debut auction in September with a BTC of 2.217x. The print-size of RM3.8b (RM3.3b auction + RM0.5b Private Placement) was within our expectations. The summary of tender results are as follows:-

Bid to Cover : 2.426x

High : 3.782%

Average : 3.775%

Low : 3.765%

Cut off : 88.57%

Decent yield and strong BTC reflect strong investor appetite....

The narrow 1.7bps tail for this tenor is reminiscent of stronger demand compared to the 2.8bps in its debut only recently in September this year with bids mainly expected from inter-bank players and some offshore investors i.e. the average yield of 3.774% is rich compared to the previous tender of 3.729%. This puts the GII 3/22 at an extrapolated 8bps premium when compared against the conventional equivalent i.e. 3Y benchmark MGS 11/21. (Note: the historical yearly mean spread between current Islamic and conventional 3Y benchmarks also averaged 9bps). With the conclusion of the final auction for the year which has resulted in an average BTC of 2.24x for the year; we now await BNM's release of the 2019 auction calendar within the next two (2) weeks.
