Global Markets Research

Mid-day Currency Outlook

USD/MYR

Intraday Thoughts – MYR Neutral

USD/MYR opened 0.03% higher at 4.1960, retreating from 4.2000 levels seen last Friday. USD/MYR is expected to experience muted trading today and is likely to range trade within 4.1950-4.2150 in the absence of a major driver. In the week ahead, we continue to expect a neutral USD/MYR eyeing a weekly range of 4.17-4.22 amid support from a still-firm USD given that geopolitical risks prevail. Locally, the Malaysia CPI data is due on the coming Friday.

1-Month Outlook – MYR Neutral

We expect the MYR to be relatively resilient in the medium term, taking into account further economic recovery as the government reopens the Malaysian border on 1 April. Recent rally in global commodity prices coupled with the soon to be implemented 25% increase in minimum wage to RM1,500 effective 1-May should provide an added impetus. This also takes into account our view that the broader USD is also expected to stay firm supported by haven demand, Fed rate hike expectations and likely outperformance of recovery in the US vis-à-vis other majors. That said, the Russia-Ukraine crisis could potentially derail the recovery and policy normalization path.
